UNITED STATES ARMY FORCES, PACIFIC
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SURGEON

APO 500

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 24

PUBLICATIONS RELATING TO THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

1. The importance of currently published technical and administrative information relating to Medical Department activities demands that every effort be made to ensure that all concerned be properly supplied with pertinent publications.

2. Publications relating to functions of the Medical Department may be divided into four categories. These include the following:

a. War Department Publications: These are distributed by the Adjutant Generals of all commands. Included among such publications of particular interest to Medical Department personnel are Technical Bulletins, Medical (TB Med); Technical and Field Manuals; War Department Circular Letters; Memorandums and Bulletins, and Army Regulations.

b. Theater of Operations Publications: Distribution of regulations, memoranda and circular letters originally produced in the theater of operations is a divided responsibility. Those issued as command directives are distributed by the Adjutant Generals of respective commands, while technical and administrative memoranda and circular letters - of concern only to the Medical Department - are distributed by the Chief Surgeon. The latter are distributed directly to units, with advance copies being forwarded to surgeons of commands by courier or by War Department Essential Airmail.

c. The Bulletin of the United States Army Medical Department: This publication, prepared under the supervision of the Surgeon General, is forwarded in bulk shipment from the United States to the Office of the Chief Surgeon, Hq. AFMESPAC, APO 707, for further distribution to units throughout the theater. Copies in sufficient quantity to supply one to each officer of the Medical, Dental, Veterinary and Sanitary Corps are forwarded from this office to unit commanders and surgeons for further distributions within their commands.

d. Professional Journals and Books Published by Private Firms or Associations: Medical text books are supplied as provided for in Tables of Organization and Equipment. Professional journals are supplied through subscriptions purchased by the Surgeon General.

3. Attached hereto is a list (Incl No 1) of War Department Technical Bulletins, Medical (TB Med), which have been issued since this publication replaced SGO Circular Letters at the end of 1943. Those bulletins not applicable in this theater have been omitted. It is suggested that this list be utilized to check files to determine if needed bulletins have been received. It should be noted that each of these has a specified schedule of distribution which will exclude some units and surgeons. However, all should be available through the Adjutant General of the command to which the unit or surgeon is assigned. If any bulletins desired cannot be obtained through the Adjutant General, it is suggested that the Chief Surgeon, Hq, AFWESPAC, APO 707, be so advised; but only after a careful check is made to ensure that no copies are on hand or available.

ARMY

4. Also attached are lists of technical memorandums (Incl No 2) and circular letters (Incl No 3) issued by the Chief Surgeon, AFAC (USAFTE), and technical (Incl No 4) and administrative memoranda (Incl No 5) issued by the Chief Surgeon, AFWESPAC (USASOS). Although the latter (Incls 4 and 5) are still in effect, where applicable, they have been discontinued, being replaced by technical memoranda and circular letters from this office. A check should be made to determine if such of these as are applicable to the function of your unit are on hand.

b. Requests for missing items may be forwarded to the Chief Surgeon, Hq, AFWESPAC APO 707, who is charged with the function of distribution of such Medical Department publications as are not handled by Adjutant Generals.

5. Medical textbooks should be obtained through the nearest Medical Supply Depot. Inquiries regarding professional journals may be directed through technical channels to the Surgeon General, Army Service Forces, Washington 25, D. C.

6. Bulletins of the U.S. Army Medical Department are often received in this theater in split shipments, thus necessitating partial distribution of respective monthly issues. If particular note is taken of this fact, units or surgeons receiving partial shipments will not be under the impression that insufficient copies are being supplied.

7. This office is ready at all times to assist units and surgeons in obtaining any informational data available.
